Ben Shephard's interactive gameshow WaveLength opens on P&O Cruises Arcadia and Aurora

P&O Cruises has today announced that WaveLength, an interactive gameshow virtually starring presenter and game show host Ben Shephard is now available on its adult only ships, Arcadia and Aurora.

Created exclusively for P&O Cruises and first shown on its newest ship Arvia, followed by Iona, WaveLength provides guests with the opportunity to find out how well they know each other as they try to match their partner's answers. The show will then be rolled out across the rest of the fleet in time for the summer season.

WaveLength will join a long line up of world-class entertainment available on board Aurora in its magnificent Curzon Theatre and in Arcadia's impressive three tier theatre, The Palladium.

While on board, guests also have the opportunity to enjoy live music and performances in Carmen's show lounge on Aurora or The Globe on Arcadia where guests can relax in comfortable and stylish surroundings while watching the latest film release, art auction, a late-night show or a variety of live music.
